I hope you enjoyed the profiles in previous Gazettes that Denise Allen wrote after interviewing first Peggy Thompson and then Rose Bowcher. Denise is looking for some more subjects; if you would like to share your experiences of living in the area, please contact Denise on 290860.

Summer is approaching and so a season of events is getting under way, starting with the May Festival at the Rec. There is a Pull-out programme for the Festival in the centre of this Gazette.

It's going to be a busy summer judging by the list of events in the Dates for the Diary section. All we need is some fine weather.

Friday 12th April. We wish to give a special mention to Head Chef Mitch Chandler and owner (and lifeboat crew member) of The Witchball Restaurant Adam Weston for cooking the fabulous fish and chips throughout the evening. Organisers are delighted to have raised around £400 and wish to thank everyone again for supporting this really enjoyable event. Thank you also to the committee of Ruan Minor Village Hall for allowing us to use the hall and for making us so welcome.

From Richard (Skinny) Williams
Ahoy one and all, it's getting that time of the year again to dust off your tackle and start the new fishing season. In this month's Gazette you will see the dates for the 2019 fishing competitions. So come on all you anglers, there's plenty of you out there to come down to the Cove on a Thursday evening for a yarn and a beer and to talk about the one that got away!

From Di Fleetwood:

John has sent this update on life in New Zealand: "Well I've done Christmas away from home, now Easter has gone by and I'm still loving New Zealand. It's been a mixed weekend of working, walking and partying. Hopefully I'll be starting a new job soon, fingers crossed as I'll definitely get fat if I keep delivering to a certain fast food chain.

We're saying goodbye to Bamber House unfortunately as it's being closed (probably for good) which is sad as it's been a real home to me and many other wayward travellers.

So to sum up, Autumn is bringing about many changes and although I miss Cadgwith; this fantastic country has so much more to offer and explore. Vive La Bamber! Cheers

Grade Ruan Community Trust

Would you like to become a Trustee?

The Grade Ruan Community Trust has been around now for 10 years. It exists to manage the three sets of public toilets in the parish and to run Cadgwith car park. Most years the income from the parking exceeds the routine cost of keeping the toilets clean. Much of the surplus is spent on maintenance and improvements but some is usually available to be donated to local “good causes”. Requests for donations should be addressed to the Secretary, Moira Hurst on grct@btinternet.com.

The Trust is a registered charity and is run by seven trustees who provide a lot of voluntary time and labour to keep costs low. A few more Trustees would be very welcome, so if you would like to help support the work of the Trust, do contact Moira. You can be sure that any conversations will be kept strictly confidential. Meetings of the Trustees are always friendly, informal and infrequent.

Cadgwith Car Park Charges

In order to fund planned improvements, which have been postponed twice due to shortage of funds, the GRCT has decided to raise the car park tariff, as soon as the machine can be adjusted. New charges will be £2.50 a day, £1 overnight, and £12.50 per week. Residents' permits remain the same, £25 per annum, and holiday lets, £200 per annum as before.

We ask permit holders to use the lower level; this is because we have noticed people turn round and leave if the upper level is full. For the same reason we try to get users of the upper level to park nose in on both sides.

Small boats can be stored over winter for £25, but must be removed by Good Friday. We also request that all cars are insured, as we have a duty of care to safeguard our customers against possible damage. One such event was when a Volvo handbrake failed and the car rolled through the wall; fortunately no other cars (or people) were damaged.

There will be no new camper van permits, and overnight sleeping in vehicles will be banned. We have been turning a blind eye to the odd stopover, but a few years ago the car park appeared on a campervan website as a 'secret location', and we ended up with two vans across four spaces for a long period, and there was all too obvious evidence that the vans were not fitted with toilets.

We rely on a spirit of goodwill and cooperation from all users, and hope that we will be able to maintain a 'light touch' approach while being able to collect money for facilities and worthy causes. We ask for everyone's support to this end.

LIZARD LIFEBOAT VISITOR CENTRE NEWS

A LITTLE BIT OF HISTORY AND SOME MORE RECENT NEWS

SV CROMDALE, a spectacularly beautiful, full rigged, three-masted barque, was built in Aberdeen in 1891 and performed numerous duties in her relatively short life. A former Australian wool clipper, she was 125 days out from Taltal, Chile en route to Falmouth with a cargo of nitrates to await further instructions. At 2200 hours on 23rd May 1913, with a calm sea but, as the crew later reported, with visibility 'As thick as a bag', she fell foul of Bass Point rocks in thick fog. The captain and crew abandoned ship immediately as it appeared she would turn over. The ship's two boats stayed close to the stricken vessel and, after a while, Captain Arthur and a few men returned to the Cromdale to send up distress rockets. They were back in the boats again when the Cadgwith Lifeboat, 'Minnie Moon', arrived and took all hands on board.

RNLB ADMIRAL SIR GEORGE BACK

The Lizard Lifeboat, 'Admiral Sir George Back' arrived soon afterwards and the Rev. Henry Vyvyan (the Cadgwith Lifeboat Secretary) along with Captain Arthur and four crew then re-boarded the Cromdale in an attempt to salvage what they could. However, the barque suddenly 'settled' and they all had to quickly take to the rigging! Being closest to hand, the Lizard Lifeboat took them off and all of the Cromdale's crew and the Master's wife were saved.

It was a job very well done by the coxswains and crews of 'RNLB Minnie Moon' and 'RNLB Admiral Sir George Back'. Being settled, stranded on the rocks and battered by the waves it was not so lucky for the Cromdale which very quickly became a total wreck.

THE SV CROMDALE WRECK – 23RD MAY 1913

On the 24th March 2019 we were pleased to welcome to Kilcobben Cove a party of 35 members of The Rotary Club of St Austell. After a brief recount of Lizard Lifeboat history from 1859 to the present day and an explanation of daily life and activity at the Station, the visitors were split into three groups. To each of the groups in turn, Duty Coxswain Dan Atkinson gave a guided tour of 'The Mighty Rose', crew member Jacqui Dunmall demonstrated some of the Station's crew facilities and activities and Visitor Centre volunteers Sue Folkerd and Trish Longden highlighted the wealth of historical information available for visitors to see.

Cadgwith Christmas Lights

What a great honour to have been asked to switch on our wonderful lights. As many of you already know, it was my Dad (Raymond Skewes) along with a band of willing helpers who started the Cadgwith Christmas Lights way back in the early 90s.

After a very disappointing trip to Mousehole Christmas lights with his grandson Brett, finding on arrival that the lights weren't on, Dad said "Don't worry, we will have our own lights down in the Cove". And that is exactly what he did. The one light that drew much attention and Dad's favourite was the back of the van crashed in to the wall. We all had great fun each year trying to think of an original number plate (I'm sure some of you will remember them). People travelled from far and wide to see this light.

I would like to say a big Thank You to everyone who has helped in any way over the years to keep this event going and especially to those who stepped up this year.

Christmas is a special time of year, especially for the children but also for the coming together of our community. So let's come together and light up Cadgwith Cove for Christmas and if we all pull together we can make it bigger and better for many years to come.

Thank you.

May Ramblings

There is no back door!

It is so natural that many of us want the best of both worlds – now while living on earth and later when we die. Both are achievable for everyone, that is providing we are prepared to honestly believe and follow God’s teaching from the Holy Bible (still the world’s best-selling book). It tells us, ‘For all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God.’ (Romans 3:23). That’s the bad news, but true. The good news is, the Bible tells us how we can change that. If we truly believe in Jesus, confess and turn from all of our sins, we are saved. In other words, we are then totally forgiven from all that we have done and said that was wrong, we will be set free, given a clean slate, and a brand new start in life. Jesus also said, “I am the way and the truth and the life, no one comes to the Father [God] except through me” (John 14: 6.) Wow, what statements!

Many of us want our cake and eat it. In other words, let’s do what we want to do now. It doesn’t matter if it’s biblically wrong; let’s not think about tomorrow. Sadly tomorrow may not come for some of us - today could be our last day. If we have stuck our heads in the sand about what Jesus (who was God in the flesh) said above, it may be too late for us to change our direction.

There is no back door or side door to God our heavenly Father. Jesus is the only door (or gate) that we can enter by. That is the Christian truth.

Some people believe that we will all end up in heaven, sins and all. This kind of thinking and belief is called ‘universalism’ which is totally wrong and unbiblical. If that was the case, there would have been no need for Jesus to willingly have gone and died on the cruel cross for our sakes, in order to wipe out our sins. The cross, His death and His resurrection, is the core/the centre of what Easter is truly all about!

Why have I been writing this type of truth for so many years? Because now, at almost 80 years old, I want to do like the late Revd John Wesley, who once said, (paraphrased) “I want to help as many as possible to go to heaven when they die.”

We need, as Jesus told us, to “Enter through the narrow gate, (there is only one way) for wide is the gate and broad is the road that leads to destruction, and many enter through it. But small is the gate and narrow the road that leads to life and only a few find it.” (Mathew 7:13-14).

Are we going to pay attention to the words of Jesus or are we going to go our own way that leads to destruction, pain and everlasting suffering? We have been given the choice. Let us all be wise and chose the way of our Saviour Jesus Christ.

Gardening in May

by David Endean

Well the swallows have returned once more and the blackthorn winter has been and gone but what a spell of South east wind we have had! No good for any fisherman let alone one launching from Cadgwith!

Many flowers are synonymous with May in my mind. The obvious is the Lily of the Valley; we could not have flora day without it but also you have the Wisteria and Lilac. May is the time to just enjoy your Wisteria. Leave its pruning to the height of the summer and the depth of the winter. But lilacs differ. Old varieties of lilac soon get very tall and leggy with the flowers only at the very top of the bush, often 10-12 feet up out of sight and smell for you to enjoy, although some of the more modern varieties are more compact. If your lilac bush is of a manageable size just remove the dead flowers and shape the bush to keep it eye able. But if your bush has gone to the sky, aim to take one in three of the tall stems out and repeat the process next year with the aim to get a smaller bush. Also remove any sucker growing from the base as often the fancier varieties have been grafted and you will only get the common type if you are lucky as they are often grafted onto privet.

May is a time to start your runner beans off. Earlier sowings need a lot of protection so are ok indoors but outside a later sowing often catches and them overtakes the early sowing. Whichever way you grow your runner beans, be it in a row or a wigwam, they need copious amounts of well-rotted organic matter incorporated into the soil and some very stout poles pushed well in for them to twist their way up. Add a little general fertiliser but they do not need much nitrogen as they have natural nitrogen-fixing nodules attached to their roots. You can either sow the seed direct in the soil, or soak the seed for 24 hours, drain and keep in a warm spot for a day or so until they begin to germinate, then plant them out. Alternatively you can sow them in pots, grow on and plant out later. When they are growing give them plenty of water and pick the beans regularly at least twice a week when they commence cropping.

In the vegetable garden the soil is warm enough to germinate most seeds without protection now. So it is the ideal time to make your main crop sowings. Carrots are always a favourite with most people, nothing tastes better than some tender young fresh roots straight from the garden. But the big menace with these vegetables is the dreaded carrot root fly. The books will tell you that these little devils fly no higher than 18 inches (45cm) above the ground so therefore you only need barriers that high and your roots will be problem free. Well I will tell you that that is rubbish. I have grown them three feet above the ground and more and still get problems. Your only hope is to grow them in ground that has not grown anything from the carrot family for a year or two. Sow your seed and immediately cover the area with horticultural fleece or better some kind of frame with viromesh attached. You need to use products like these because the flies are so small they will get through other barriers. You can grow varieties like Resistafly or flyaway which both show some resistance and taste good also. But the seed companies do recommend sowing a standard variety with them to act as a sacrificial lamb. This is all well and good but how many people can afford the space to write off a row or more of carrots. I think I might try a row of French marigolds amongst the carrots this year as the smell may well deter the fly. I do use them in with the tomatoes and cucumbers to ward off aphids. The fly problem is not just in carrots; it also affects parsnips, parsley, celery and celeriac.

We'll get out there and enjoy your gardening I am off to tie in my sweet peas, mow the grass, plant the bedding out, pot the and sow some more it's never ending.

Who Remembers?

Gill Preston

The Death of Noel Cliff of Ruan Minor on 26th July 2017 reminded me of many things.

He was the youngest of four - Tommy the eldest who was last known to be running a grocer shop in Mullion ... was he in the Navy in the war? Then Blanche - did she marry a Triggs from the Lizard? Margery next, who married Alec Merritt, general handyman and partner with Monty Basher of Treal, and then Noel, in the army during the war, and a whizz on the mouth organ; how I enjoyed and admired his skill. Their father ran a successful but smelly and noisy garage, the only one for some miles round, the site now occupied by Rozen, and let out four or five single vehicle garages,.

Spending summer holidays with the Cliffs at "Homeleigh"  in the 1930s and before purchasing Polstangey in 1938, I remember enjoying pasties baked by his mother; also the long very cold passage down to the loo and bathroom, which were recent additions! I also remember, aged 7, picking what I thought were pretty scarlet flowers from the carefully tended vegetable patch, to be greeted with horror and scolding, as of course they were runner beans.

In the corner of the garden, there was a fairy tale like thatched summer house, where I and Peggy, Blanche's daughter, played. I also still have a photo of us and the Vyvyan grandchildren, balanced on the pedestal that supported the flag pole.

What is of great interest is that during the 1939-45 war, the Coast-guard erected a Look-Out on the roof of the garage, accessed by very rickety steps, to view the convoys, with the protecting warships. The height meant there was a wide sweep of sea to view, from Black Head to Bass Point - most exciting, but one had to be careful not to fiddle with the angle of the telescope, something that a seven year old did all too easily.

 The house is now known as Chy Ula. Does anyone know when the name was changed and why?

Recreation Ground News

See us on Facebook:
"Grade Ruan Recreation Ground"

Things have quietened down a bit since last month - darts and euchre match seasons have both finished until the Autumn. Football fixtures will continue until the middle of May, with RMFC in the running for two cups as well as heading for top spot in the league. Looking ahead, May is quite busy with a couple of parties and at least one football match, plus, of course, our May Festival.

Work on the current phase of work on the kitchen is, at last, completed. We have the full gas installation and safety system installed and commissioned, with the cooker connected up. We have registered the kitchen with Cornwall Council EHO and the kitchen is available for us to use. Apart from the cooker, the facilities are still fairly basic - but it's a start! The next phase is more a matter of re-arranging the work tables and sink slightly - to make best use of the space, replacing the fridge and getting some more cooking appliances. Moving things around won't cost too much, but commercial cooking appliances are expensive - so we will have to start saving up again!

As with last year, the May Festival will concentrate on the Saturday evening the 25th and all day Sunday the 26th May, with a more relaxed day on Bank Holiday Monday the 27th. We have live music on Saturday evening from Graeme Mathieson, followed by The Natch, then all the usual fun on the Sunday afternoon with stalls and side shows, magic, Punch and Judy show, cannon firing, dog show and more! We have music from the fairground organ and the Whippletree Ceilidh Band in the afternoon and Akoustek followed by Indie Pendants in the evening. On Monday we will have the bar open and a range of outdoor sports gear available - nothing formally organised, just an opportunity to relax and let off steam in the field! All we need is a for the Sun to shine.

Many thanks for your continuing support,

Mike Fleetwood, Chairman.

We are pleased to report that RMFC are still unbeaten and are up to 2nd place in the league and have reached our first Final against New Inn Titans on Sunday 5th May. This month we have played Frogpool, winning 4-2, Rosudgeon 4-1, St Ives 3-1 and Frogpool in the Cup 4-1. Our latest results and scorers are as follows:-

QUIZ NIGHT NEWS

March saw another hard fought quiz night between eight teams, presided over this time by Mark, with several guest rounds from Steve & Debs and Skinny & Maggs. With topics like Dog trivia, Mother's Day, Plum peach Pear and some veg, Right on Q and a picture round of famous people with names linked to birds. After eight rounds there was little between the teams but the Fox and Hounds came out on top this month. Alas the wooden spoon has not travelled far from the hall this month as it was graciously accepted by Frank from Their Loss is Our Gain.
